

Left Hand Grip

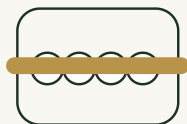

The hands are the hub. Every face problem starts here, and so does every fix.

Too deep

Handle in the palm

Correct

Handle in the base knuckles

Problem

The ball starts right or you fight the club all day and finish the round tired.

Root cause

The handle sits in the palm. The left hand cannot control the face, so the right hand takes over and the club crosses the line at the top.

The check, every swing

- ☐ Handle runs diagonally across the base knuckles, not through the palm.
- ☐ Thumb sits slightly right of center and feels secure, not pinched.
- ☐ Two to three knuckles visible when you look down.
- ☐ Right hand goes on after the left is set, never before.

Outcome: the club points at the target at the top instead of crossing it, the body drives the swing instead of the arms, and the ball stops leaking right.
